

DID YOU KNOW?

SEPTEMBER 2022

ASSISTED LIVING VS NURSING HOME

There are two distinct incident location type codes for facilities which are similar: nursing homes and assisted living facilities.

Distinguishing between these two facility types helps target education and intervention efforts, preventing the next call.

Both location types may exist on the same “campus,” so it’s important distinguish the physical location when describing where an incident occurred. Ask yourself:

Is it a healthcare facility that’s also residential?

Is it a residential facility with a care assistance amenity?

- Primary facility function is healthcare, is also residential

Incident Location Type:

Health Facility - Nursing Home (SNIF, LTCF, Etc.)

Example: Iliff Nursing & Rehab Center (FS 413)

- Primary facility function is residential, with care assistance as an amenity
- Long-term care assistance (not necessarily medical)

Incident Location Type:

Residence - Assisted Living Facility

Example: Sunrise Senior Living (FS 404/409/414/429, etc.)
